Hi good evening,

September's getting pretty cold this time around in Paris. Though I don't really mind it all too much.

But, coming to the main point of this:

- I wanted creative freedom with my website. Being able to write out my thoughts. I want is pretty nice.
Anyway

- It's convenient. I have a lot to juggle (updating a website isn't a priority RN). I'm trying to learn, build a career, be physically fit. And there are only so many hours in a day. Plus this gives me a chance to practice my writing, creative expression, and my spelling (hehe).
(honestly though it's a skill you lose with computers)

- Do I need more reason than that? No not really. Hope you readers can read my handwriting.
